Shawkey's Hurling Defeats Griffmen

Athletics' Hurler Proves Ace in the Hole and Nationals Lose, 4 to 1.

BENTLEY STARTS POORLY

By WILLIAM PEET.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—Griff's gladiators could easily have used some of those hits collected yesterday in today's game, which went to the Athletics, 4 to 1.

As hinted in our story this morning, one never can tell what Connie has up his sleeve. His ace-in-the-hole today was Pitcher Bob Shawkey, who held the Nationals to half a dozen scattered hits while Griffith used up four perfectly good slammers and a trio of pinch hitters in his effort to wrench off the big end of the score.

Somebody kicked off the pepper hot this afternoon and baptized the Athletics for this bunch played real ball throughout and took advantage of every opening.

Griff labored under a bum hunch when he ordered Jack Bentley to start the game in the box. Jack was nipped for a couple of doubles, a pair of singles and sacrifice fly in less than two innings. The result of this attack was three Philly runs and a comfortable lead under which to work.

Engel Goes to Mound.

Bentley was yanked in favor of Engel, who did heaps better. Joe was rattled for a marker in the fifth, and when the Mackmen came to bat in the sixth Booth Hopper was on the mound. Hopper held the enemy runners for two frames and Harper tossed the eighth, also permitted no liberties.

It was because Griff insisted upon sending up pinch hitters, who by the way, failed to pinch hit, that this array of slams was paraded before the eyes of the small crowd of fans.

Dopey base running killed off a couple of promising rallies for Washington. Moeller in the third allowed himself to be snared off the keystone sack by a lightning peg from Shawkey while Moeller's single to start off the ninth fell on barren ground, as he, too, fell a victim of one of Shawkey's throws.

Shawkey Gets in Game.

Griff benched Henry Rondau and played Howard Shanks in left field. Shanks, who is a center in the fifth, which probably means his old job for a few days more.

The game opened nicely for the Griffmen. Moeller was nipped and trotted to second on a passed ball. Denny got no nearer home, as the next three men died in order.

Morgan started the second with a single, but Shanks tied to Strunk, and it was all over when Henry hit into a double play.

From the third inning until the final half of the ninth Shawkey allowed our boys but three scattered hits.

Washington averted a shutout in the third. McBride singled and went to second when Shawkey threw out Engel. Moeller's single to center scored McBride.

There were a number of brilliant fielding features. The Nationals executed two snappy double plays. McBride's work at short was sensational, the captain handling seven hard chances in flawless style. Gandil also put up a great game at first base.

SLUGGEST TO BOSTON; HURLERS HAMMERED

Boston, May 7.—The Braves eluded three Giant pitchers today, while the Giants eluded two Brave pitchers. When the dust had lifted and the outfielders had regained their breath, the Braves were in the lead 11 to 7. New York outbatted the home team, but the Braves' hits were the longest and came at the most opportune moments. Burns drove out four hits, while Robertson and Maranville amassed three each.

Hopper Is Easily Best Youngster

Tennessee Moundsman Gives Creditable Performance Against Athletics.

SHAW TO WORK TODAY

Philadelphia, May 7.—Three of Griff's young pitchers got their names into a box score today for the first time this season. Bentley, Engel and Hopper are the lads in question, and of this trio Booth Hopper looked easily the best.

Several of the Philadelphia players told the writer after the game that Hopper showed them the best curve ball they had looked at all season.

For the getaway game here tomorrow Griff has switched his plans and now states that he will pitch either Bert Galla or Jim Shaw, saving Johnson for Detroit on Sunday. Joe Rush is the likely Mackman entry for box duty.

John Henry was decidedly off color in his throwing here today. His poor peg in the first inning coupled with a low ball throw by Foster virtually handed the Athletics two runs.

According to Manager Griffith, the reason why Rondau was not used in left field today was because Rondau was a bit under the weather. The real reason is that Rondau has not been hitting as Griff had hoped, and it would not be surprising if Shanks was kept in left field for some time to come.

Henry Rondau, who is holding down left field for his hitting, but who has thus far not made a noise like a mighty slugger, explains his inability to wallop the ball, as follows:
"In the first place, I am not getting hold of the ball as I believe I will a little later. I can't hit it right on the bat, and yet none is productive of better results than those obtained while scuffling in the frail racing shell or manipulating a sweep in a crew boat."

"In the exercises above enumerated, when practiced singly, certain muscles only receive benefit, while in rowing every muscle of the human frame is brought into play at one time, from the biceps and triceps of the arms to the shoulder back and abdominal muscles and those of the nether limbs."

"In a word, rowing answers the combined purposes of nearly all the other forms of exercise and is far better in view of the fact that the body is exposed to the beneficial effects of the air and sun and no dust is taken into the lungs."

"In view of the above facts it is gratifying to note the growing popularity of this grand and most healthful pastime among the youths of America."

Therefore, Be it resolved, that the Potomac Boat Club adopt a junior membership, to be made up of boys above the age of seventeen (17) years who are attending any of the high schools or preparatory schools in the District of Columbia and who pay as dues the sum of ten dollars ($10) annually, said membership to be without the privilege of storing boats or vote, or voice at the meetings of the club."

OLD-TIME COUNTRY FAIR AT MARLBORO IN JUNE

Fine Stock Exhibits, Airship Exhibitions, and Six Horse Races Each Day.

The Southern Maryland Fair Association has decided on June 1 to 5 inclusive as the dates for its annual fair on their grounds at Marlboro. Unusual preparations have been made to make this a memorable exhibition. A large number of exhibits have been secured, especially in live stock and agricultural products. There will be six races every day.

There is an excellent half-mile track on the fair grounds, where in the past many of the best horses in the country have been entered and ran some excellent races. Last summer under its new management these races attracted crowds of Washingtonians, special trains running on the Chesapeake Railroad and returning immediately after the last race. Every indication at present points to a successful exhibition and race meeting. There will be six races every day.

IN BIG RACE TODAY.

Carroll Institute Has Six Athletes in New York Hike.

Although but six athletes of the Carroll Institute track team are entered in the big modified marathon which will be held today in New York City by the Evening Mail, the wearers of the Yellow and White are confident of landing one of the handsome prizes offered for the out of town team scoring the most points.

Local followers of the long distance hiking game are looking toward Capt. Danny Heall and Mike Lynch to finish well up in the field of 2,000 athletes who will toe the mark while big things are being predicted for the other quarter of local runners who have made the trip to Gotham. Covert, Adams, Downey, and Blumer are the other local boys in the race and each is in the best of condition and ready to put up the race of his career.
